DELEGATES REPORT AT JOINT Y MEETING

Interesting Program Given By Students Who Went to Des Moines

A deep and appealing message was brought to the members of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. at their joint meeting last Sunday evening when the delegates to the Student Volunteer Convention at Des Moines, Iowa, gave a brief and interesting digest of the events of the convention.

The first speaker, Jesse Tapp, told something of the history and progress of the Student Volunteer Movement, which, since its organization in 1896, has grown to its present large proportions, reaching $300,000 students in 1,000 institutions of the United States and Canada.

A clear picture of the setting in which the conference was held and the hospitality of the Des Moines people was presented by Adele Slade. She also commented upon the important part taken by women at the various meetings and the excellent and forceful addresses made by them.

George Gregory spoke on "Great Men of the Convention," mentioning Robert Wilder, founder of the Student Volunteer Movement, Samuel Higgenbottom, Dr. Truett, Bishop McDowell, J. Campbell White, Sherwood Eddy, Robert E. Spear, and others. The speaker gave a concise message from each of these great men.

"One Day's Program" by Lillie Cromwell served to give those who were not fortunate enough to attend the conference some small idea of what they missed. She told about the women's meeting Sunday afternoon at which the principal addresses were made by Mrs. Sherwood Eddy and five student volunteers.

Fannie Heller spoke of the crying need for missionaries in Corea, India and other eastern countries in her talk on "The Appeal of the Orient." "Mohammedism, not Christianity, is flourishing in the Near East," said George Zerfoss, who brought back from the convention an appeal for missionaries to go to that part of the foreign field.

Elenor Heath spoke on "The Call of Africa," that great continent of which only two per cent are Christian.

J. P. Barnes told of the needs of our own close neighbors, Latin America, and Margaret Wolf in her talk on "The Response of the Students" made an earnest appeal to the students of the University of Kentucky to listen to the walls and feel the suffering of the distressed world. "There is no need for a mysterious call," said she.

"Y" PLEDGES OVERDUE

The pledges made in the recent Y. M. C. A. campaign are now overdue and should be paid at once either to Mr. Peak, in the Business Office, or to Mr. Owens, in the Y. M. C. A. office.

EVERETT NEW CAPTAIN OF BASKETBALL SQUAD

Maryville and Wesleyan To Be Next Victims of 1920 'Cats

J. C. Everett, center of the 1920 Wildcat basketball quintet was elected captain of the squad Wednesday afternoon at a special election called by the Athletic Director and the Coach. An election at this time was necessitated by the absence of the captain-elect, Henry Thomas, who did not return to the University this fall.

The new captain was elected by the members of the present squad, irrespective of whether they were letter men or not. Since there were only two letter men on the squad these, Everett and Burnham, were the only ones eligible for the position. In the Cincinnati game Everett won the toss and acted as captain during the game. Everett played three years with the Maysville High five, one year with the Sewanee Military Academy team, and one year with the Kentucky Varsity. He is a member of the S. A. E. Fraternity, is a Sophomore in the College of Agriculture, and is first lieutenant in Company A.

The Wildcats met Maryville College on the local floor Thursday night, but it was impossible to get the results of the game into this issue of the Kernel.

The next Varsity game is to be played in Winchester with the quintette of basketballers of Kentucky Wesleyan College Saturday night. Wesleyan has an unusually strong team this year, and with the advantage of playing on her own floor, will probably put up a stiff fight that will call out the best of Kentucky's ability.

STROLLER PLAY WILL BE "THE CLIMBERS"

"Beau Brummel" Proves Unsatisfactory in Opinion of Stroller Organization

The stage manager and play committee of the Stroller organization have decided to drop "Beau Brummel," the play selected for the 1920 production at the Lexington Opera House and to substitute for it "The Climbers."

The reason for this step is that it was disclosed as readings proceeded, that a very much larger number of young women desired parts in the play than had been expected, and on account of the fact that "Beau Brummel" gave opportunity for only a limited number of these, it was considered advisable to make the substitution, as the cast of "The Climbers" includes ten women parts and twelve men parts, not less than four of the former being outstanding characters.

The change will not cause any loss of time as readings for the "Beau Brummel" parts had not proceeded beyond the reading stage, and these readings will be indicative in selections for parts for "The Climbers." As a matter of fact, preparation for the play has started so much earlier this year than in former years that no difficulty is expected in the production of the play, possibly late in March.

"The Climbers" is considered by competent critics Clyde Fitch's most compelling and masterful drama, bringing upon the stage delineation that calls for nice conception of the demands of its various roles, both in comedy and in its most serious aspects. There are in the play several striking and impressive climaxes illuminated by a fine vein of satire upon some of the shortcomings of the modern so-called "smart set."

So far, the best talent in the Strollers is trying for parts. Competition is unusually severe, and it is certain that the '20 play will equal, if not surpass, its achievements of past years.

PRE-MED. SOCIETY MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting of the Pre-Medical Society which was scheduled for Monday night, January 27, has been postponed until the same time the following week. The postponement was occasioned by the semester examinations.

REGISTRATION NOTICE

Students will have the privilege of registering Thursday and Friday of this week from 3 to 5 and every afternoon next week, from 3 to 5. The purpose of this early registration is to enable those who care to go home after examinations to stay until Tuesday, the day on which classes begin.

SIX WINNERS CHOSEN IN PRELIMINARIES

Men to Represent U. K. in Intercollegiate Debates.

The six men who were chosen in the trial debates to represent the University of Kentucky in the intercollegiate debates with Miami University and the University of Cincinnati are J. L. Boudurant, P. H. Vincent, F. P. Bell, G. T. Robinson, C. W. Richards and N. B. Conkright.

C. E. Smith who will represent the University in the intercollegiate oratorical contests, won a high rank in the debate trials, but withdrew to give his time to preparation for the oratorical contests.

The proposition debated in the trials was the proposition to be used in the intercollegiate debates on March 12:

RESOLVED: That for purposes of bargaining between employer and employee, the organization of all labor within the individual plant or industrial organization offers a better solution of industrial problems than the present system of national unions.

MORE MEN WANTED FOR ENGINEERING POSITIONS

Graduating Class Will Meet
Only One-third of Calls.

Applications have been received by the college of engineering for three times as many men for positions as there are in this year's graduating class. The following letter from the General Electric Company, where six men from the 1919 class are now employed, is typical of those being received:

"We are hoping that we can obtain five or six representative men from you this year. The representatives of last year's class are all doing well, and two of them, Frederick de Mey and Felix Shouse, have been transferred from the course to the general office organization.

"Mr. de Mey is in the construction engineering department on three months' trial, and Mr. Shouse is in our special business course for commercial men. Russell David is signed up as one of our assistant section heads and Louis Bauer, W. S. Baugh and Trice Bell are all doing good work."

Another letter is from the People's Gas, Light and Coke Company, of Chicago, and is as follows:

"The management of this company has decided to increase the number of technical men in its engineering department. Chemical, mechanical and civil engineers are wanted.

"Those recently graduated from college are preferred because it is the purpose to train them thoroly in modern gas engineering practice. I will appreciate a statement from you as to the number of students available from your institution."

DAY OF EXAMINATION.

There will be no issue of the Kernel next week, on account of the examinations. The editorial staff of this humble publication has exams just the same as the other lower animals (students, faculty, etc.), and exams and getting out a Kernel don't go together with any noticeable success.

But what we started out to say is this: We hope, we believe that the day of cheating in examinations has passed in this institution. It is common talk among both faculty and student body that this most desirable condition prevails with perhaps some desultory exceptions, and the Kernel as the mouthpiece we hope of the majority of the students takes pleasure in hailing this fortunate and highly commendatory situation.

There is a period in the history of all schools when cheating in examinations is virtually unknown; that is, at the very inception and birth of the institution, when the first enthusiasm of launching an enterprise of such high ideals of service and existence seizes on the imaginations of the attendants of the school and for the time being they, in some measure, live the ideal set before them.

But as schools grow and elements inimical to their high purposes enter school life, the moral standard sometimes deteriorates. Cheating occurs, in a few scattered instances at first, then with increasing frequency, until in due season it becomes accepted practice. Students do it and the faculties accept it as one of the necessary evils of school life. Examinations become a game in which students and teachers match wits and in all probability each expends more energy on this contest than would be required to pass examinations if they were carried on without friction.

These two stages of moral development the University of Kentucky has passed through. It is now emerging into the third stage, and we who now have the good fortune to be students here should count ourselves fortunate indeed that we may in such a time of crisis be able to further the best interests of the University by our own acts and attitude. This third stage is that in which cheating gradually passes out of existence, and a spirit of real honor and achievement grows up to take its place. This is the most important moment in the history of the University, and we may have a hand in the moulding of its destinies. If we have any scholastic spirit, and it is indisputable that we have, there will be no cheating in the forthcoming examinations.

The glory of an institution of learning is not in the might and prowess of its athletes, nor in the costliness and completeness of its equipment, nor yet again in the scholarship and fame of its faculty. It lies in the student body, in the kind and quality of men it turns out, in their integrity and uprightness, in their high and unafraid attitude toward truth.

But it is not simply a matter of school spirit that should prompt us to keep our examinations clean. There should be behind that a soul that scorns the sully of unfairness, that is willing to face the consequences of its own acts, and undergo any fair ordeal smilingly. This is the soul that counts, the soul of greatness, the only soul worthy of the name. It will not brook infringement of its code of conduct, in itself and will not allow preventable infringement of it in others.

Let us hope that this is the spirit that will prevail throughout these examinations. We feel sure that it will prevail; that the students of the University of Kentucky will come through, successful or unsuccessful according as the preparation has been, but with a clean record that will stand the most scrutinizing examination of that inward and personal examiner, the human conscience.

SYMPATHY FOR FORMER COMRADE.

The Kernel hears with profound regret of the death of Ed. D. Shinnick, editor of Shelbyville Record, and father of L. William Shinnick, former editor of the Kernel, a graduate of the class of 1917, and one of the most prominent students of the last decade in the University.

The Kernel knows that mere words are empty things in an hour like this to its former comrade, but it could not allow the mournful incident to pass without assuring him that this loss touches its staff also.

U. S. GETS EXTRA RODES SCHOLARSHIP.

Three additional American Rhodes scholarships have been allotted to the United States for this year, in view of the keen competition for these scholarships in October. The appointment of the Rhodes scholars-at-large will be made the latter part of January by a special committee of former Rhodes scholars. After 1920, 32 men will be annually selected from the United States.

The Knight of the Lexington Drug scratched his head with a characteristic gesture, removed the resulting splinter, and remarked: "It makes no difference how hungry your horse is, he can't eat a bit."

BACCHUS.

An Elegy.

Ah Bacchus,
Where now is thy nose-paint,
The laurels which one crowned thy comely brow—
Where, oh where, are the songs and the laughter,
The dancing lamp-posts and elusive keyholes?
Show us the stones and the trees by the roadside,
That once took the shapes of horses and cattle,
And all belonging to thee—
Oh Bacchus!

Ah Bacchus,
Where now is the wife,
That once welcomed the good man home in the wee small hours?
Why are thy knees trembling,
Thy laurels withering and crumbling away?
Thine eyes no more sparkle and shine
As in the olden days,
When wine was in the head and brains
in the heel—
Oh Bacchus!

ALUMNUS TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN CHINA

Maury Wilson Gives Students Treat in Talk in Chapel Tuesday

Maury Wilson, who graduated from the College of Engineering with the class of 1908, and for the last seven years has been in China where he is Professor of Physics and head of the Department of Self Help at the Christian University of Hang Chow, made a ninspiring address in chapel Tuesday morning.

"We hear so much of opium smoking, of famines and of the foot binding custom in China that we lose sight of other pictures," said Mr. Wilson, "nevertheless there are others that are not entirely darkened. In China there are fertile plains where growing grain wave in the fields, there are large areas planted in fruit orchards, there is wild game in abundance, and in one province alone there is enough anthracite coal to supply the whole world for 2,000 years.

"But while China has many natural resources because she is lacking in the spirit of sacrifice and democracy, she is unable to develop them and therefore help must come from outside sources."

Mr. Wilson said that the leaders of thought in China were realizing that Confucius and Buddha could no longer help them, so they were turning to the West, to a nation that they trusted.

"And will this nation grasp their extended hands and help them? It can, for one-third of the wealth and one-seventeenth of the population of the world is in America, but it is neither brains nor efficiency, but it is love that the world needs today. And," concluded Mr. Wilson, "the nations will not find their peace at the points of cannons nor at peace conferences, but they will find peace at the feet of the crucified Christ.

There will be no chapel next week on account of examinations.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

The Philosophians started the new semester at their last meeting with an election of officers. Work on the play, "The Chinese Lantern" was begun. The new officers elected were Lily Cromwell, president; Elizabeth Kraft, vice-president; Lulu Blakey, secretary, and Fannie Heller, treasurer. Ruth Kelly was elected corresponding secretary, Roberta Thornton, critic, and Claribel Kay was re-elected sergeant-at-arms.

D. V. TERRELL GETS IMPORTANT OFFICE

University Professor Made Member of National Highway Association.

Another University man has been made a member of an important national body, Professor D. V. Terrell being appointed on the committee on tests and investigations of the American Association of State Highway Officials. The appointment was made by Paul D. Sargent, chief engineer of the Maine State Highway Commission who is president of the American Association. The chairman of the committee on which Professor Terrell was appointed is T. R. Agg, of Ames, Iowa.

In addition to the new duties which he will perform, Professor Terrell is testing engineer of the Kentucky Road Department, having been re-appointed last week by Commissioner of Public Roads, Joseph C. Boggs, and his appointment approved by Governor Morrow.

As State Testing Engineer, Professor Terrell passes upon all materials used in highway construction throughout the State and it is due to his efforts that standards have been set for materials in all phases of road work. Under his supervision a testing laboratory has been developed at the University for the efficiency of the highway department and the students in Civil Engineering, and is located in the basement of the Civil Building.

The testing laboratory was started in 1915 with an appropriation of the small sum of $1,000, but now the equipment stands at four times that amount and includes testing machines of the latest and improved type, including culverts, rock, cement, and asphalt. The laboratory is one of the best equipped in this part of the country and was made possible by contributions from Fayette County and the State.

At a conference of the committee to which Professor Terrell has been appointed, which will probably be held February 9, it is proposed to establish a standard method of testing road materials and to perfect the details of procedure with those tests already standardized in the laboratories of the Bureau of Public Roads, located in Washington.

Professor Terrell is a brother of Robert C. Terrell, formerly State Commissioner of Roads, but now State Highway Engineer of Oklahoma. Both graduated from the University with the classes of 1910 and 1906, respectively.

Prospects Are Bright For a Winning Season in 1920

THIRTEEN "K" MEN

Prospects for a world-beater baseball nine are indeed rosy this spring if the number of candidates answering Coach Gill's "First Call" last Tuesday is any indication of the success of the team. Coach Gill and Captain Propps recorded the names of thirteen "K" men reporting on the opening day, and also the names of twenty-six non-letter men who aspire to places on the baseball outfit that has always received its share of honors in scholastic baseball.

Whatever its luck in other forms of athletics Kentucky has always been able to play the great American game successfully, and in the season that will open soon Kentuckians have every reason to expect a banner season. With the competent baseball coach that everyone recognizes Coach Gill to be, with a peppy, boosting captain that Captain Propps gives promise of being, and with thirty-nine experienced baseball players reporting at the first call for men there are sure to be some large numbers on the Blue and White side of the score board this spring.

One thing is certain—there is to be no lack of good pitching material in the squad this year. Four letter men have enviable records as hurlers for the Wildcats of the past, and the three Freshmen among the present candidates are sure to give some old men a race for their positions. It was first thought that the absence of a "K" catcher would furnish a wonderful opportunity for the pessimists, but the registration Tuesday revealed that the Coach would have six husky backstops from which to choose a Varsity receiver. There are also several promising candidates for each of the infield and outfield positions.

The letter men who are candidates and the positions for which they will first try are: Zerfoss, s. s.; Muth, o. f.; Brown, 1 b.; Sauer, o. f.; Misrach, o. f.; Propps, 2 b.; Grubbs, p.; Cooper, p.; Slomer, p.; Burnham, 3 b.; Frazier, o. f.; Ed. Gregg, 1 b.; and Ireland, p. The non-letter men are: Faulconer, c.; Morris, 1 b.; Wilkerson, 1 b.; Megular, p.; Benjamin, i. f.; Wheat, o. f.; Baugh, c.; Pergen, o. f.; Jones, o. f.; Thompson, o. f.; Robertson, o. f.; Liles, o. f.; Pribble, c.; Grimes, r. f.; Balfey, o. f.; Hamm, o. f.; Ridgeway, c.; Grant, c.; Hogg, o. f.; Coleman, p.; Hukle, o. f.; Boren, o. f.; Byrd, p.; T. Gregg, 2 b.; Heber, c.; and Arnold, o. f.

There are other men in the University who would make excellent material for the baseball squad, and the Coach is very desirous of securing their names as soon as possible. Men who failed to report Tuesday should call at the Athletic Office immediately and sign up.

Indoor practice for the batteries will begin the week following examinations. Other indoor work for the candidates will begin immediately, also. Work on the baseball schedule is now well under way, and in the next issue of the Kernel the complete schedule will probably be published.

KITTENS TO PLAY WESLEYAN SATURDAY

Opening Game Finds Co-eds in Good Shape For Contest.

The Kittens of the University of Kentucky will meet the Wesleyan co-ed quintet at Winchester Saturday night, January 24, in the opening basketball game of the season. The Wildcats join the Kittens the same night in the offense against Wesleyan.

Intense practise has been going on since the reopening of school and a victorious team is expected for the coming season. In fact there is such a splendid representation out for basketball this year that the choosing of a varsity team will be difficult.

The girls who will make the trip to Winchester are Lucy Dean, Lillie Cromwell, Margaret Harbison, Bernice Young, Mildred Porter, Katie Henry, Ruth Sullivan, Ilma Thorpe, Fannie Heller, and Jennie Simmons. The probable line-up will be Lillie Cromwell, center, Lucy Dean, guard, Bernice Young, guard, Margaret Harbison, forward, Katie Henry, forward.

KY. FRESHMEN LOSE TO FRANKFORT STARS

Paris High and Other Teams To Be Played Later in Season.

University of Kentucky Freshmen basketball squad suffered defeat at the hands of the Frankfort Y. M. C. A. quintet Monday night at Frankfort. The score was 25 to 8. The "Y" aggregation was composed of several former college players and had played several games during the present season, and so proved too strong for the inexperienced Kittens.

Kinney, fast forward for the Frankfort club, was the star of the game. Paul Hite, former University football player, was also a member of the "Y" team. For the Kittens Fest and Carr played best, and Ringo was also successful in his goal shooting.

Negotiations are under way for a game with Paris High and other teams. The Kittens will give Frankfort a return game in Lexington soon.

The line-up follows:

Baugh	Evans, McKinney
	Forward.
Green, Ringo	Kinney
	Forward.
Fest	Boxton, Hite
	Center.
Carr	Brislan
	Guard.
Boren	Suppingier

STUDENT LUNCH HOUR EARLIER NEXT WEEK

All students taking lunch at the cafeteria during examination week are requested to come between the hours of 11:30 and 12:30. Since this will be Farmers' Week many of the farmers will be eating at the cafeteria. So in order to avoid congestion Miss Purnell has asked the students and professors to come between these hours. At 12:30 all prices will be raised and students coming late will have to pay the advanced price.

In Selecting a University

For a college education, there are five things to be taken into consideration:

1. The men at the head of the Institution.
2. The scholastic standing and ability of the Teaching Staff.
3. The location and advantages of environment.
4. Equipment, buildings, laboratories and libraries.
5. Cost.

In all these respects the University of Kentucky commends itself to those seeking a higher institution in which to carry on their education.

All Departments, including Liberal Arts, Sciences, Agriculture, Law, Education, Mining, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering.

The Government needs trained men and women; college training will bring the result.

PRESIDENT FRANK L. McVEY

University of Kentucky

Lexington, Ky.

BIG FARM CONFERENCE WILL OPEN TUESDAY

Ky. Farm Conference Expected To Be Greatest Ever Held

The Kentucky division of the American farmers' army will be given an auspicious sendoff on its campaign for the obliteration of world-hunger, at the Kentucky Farm and Home Convention in Lexington, January 27, 28, 29, 30. Arrangements are being made at the University, where the convention will be held, for the reception of more than 1,700 men and women from all sections of the State.

The nine organizations of Kentucky farmers, whose annual meetings make up the Home and Farm Convention, have arranged programs of importance to all followers of agricultural pursuits in the Blue Grass State. Speakers of national and international note have accepted invitations to address the various associations.

Three branches of the Kentucky dairy industry are to be organized during the convention. State creamery men, Holstein breeders and Jersey breeders have called meetings of interested persons to effect the formation of State units of the national organizations.

Noted Men Coming.

M. D. Dunn, of New York City, president of the National Jersey Cattle Association will be in Lexington to assist in the organization of the Jersey men, and Peter Small, of Clarendon, O., will represent the National Holstein Cattle Association.

A competitive alfalfa show will be the feature of the annual session of the Kentucky Alfalfa Growers' Association the second day of the convention. Premiums will be awarded for the best bunches of old alfalfa; the best bunch of the grass sown since August 1, 1919; and for the best bale of alfalfa. Any grower in the State, irrespective of whether he is a member of the association, is privileged to enter samples in the show. Samples will remain the property of the owners.

The Alfalfa Association was organized in 1913 to stimulate interest in the growing of the crop that "fattens everything on the farm, including the farmer's pocketbook."

Officers of the Association are: J. E. Grider, Fredonia; G. M. Fenley, Valley Station; Thomas Bright, Stanford and Thompson R. Bryant, Lexington.

Swift Man to Speak.

J. W. Fisher, of Swift and Company, Chicago, has been secured to address the session of the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association, Thursday afternoon, January 29, on the subject of "The Packers' Viewpoint as to the Future of Beef Production."

The annual meeting of the beef cattle men will be opened with an address by State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna, and will be addressed by Governor Edwin P. Morrow, H. O. Moxley, of Shelbyville and Wayland Rhoads. A banquet will be held at night at the Phoenix Hotel.

The feature of the beef men's meeting, to be held in the stock pavilion on the Experiment Station farm, is the carcass judging of three heaves, one a thoroughbred, one a grade and the other a rough steer. Prizes will be awarded for the best judging.

Kentucky poultry raisers will have their day Friday, January 30, the last of the convention. The State poultry show will be held in the Agricultural Building.

Professor A. G. Phillips, head of the Poultry Department, Indiana University, is due to make an address on the possibilities of the farm flock.

Farmers organizations to hold meetings during the convention are the beef cattle breeders, jack stock breeders, horse breeders, dairy cattlemen, Jersey breeders, Holstein breeders, creamerymen, swine breeders, alfalfa growers, sheep breeders and poultry raisers.

FRESHMEN CO-EDS DEFEAT SOPHOMORES

At the first basketball game of the co-ed inter-class series the Freshman girls defeated the Sophomores last Friday afternoon by a score of 14 to 9. The game was lively and snappy, and showed that competition for the championship would be keen. Although the Sophomores had a good team, the Freshmen outplayed them, and with their superior team work and goal shooting finished the game with the score in their favor.

Following is the line-up:

Freshmen.	Sophomores.
Potter	Piper

Griffith	Sullivan

The selection of suitable drug store goods is better here than usual for the very simple reason that not only do we stock practically anything and everything that any drug store anywhere could offer you, but we arrange and display them in such a way as to make selection easy, rapid and satisfactory. The quality of everything we sell is high-grade. True, there are medium priced and low-priced goods, but value for value, price for price, there are better offerings here than elsewhere. ABOUT THE CAMPUS

K. C. Westover has arrived at the University and has taken up his work in the Department of Horticulture. He is a graduate of New Hampshire Agricultural College, class of '17, and comes from Manchester. Up to November 1, he was in government service, and has also been connected with plant disease survey work.

Doctor Tuttle is in receipt of a letter from Robert Pfanstell, class of '14, chemistry, who is now registered as Graduate Student at University of Pennsylvania. He entered there in September.

A. C. Young, class of '15, Agriculture, was on the campus Tuesday. "A. C." is connected with Carrs-Fork Coal Company, which is located at Sassafras, Perry County, and he doesn't look a bit older than the day he graduated. (The writer knows).

Doctor Tigert spoke Tuesday to an audience at the Board of Commerce in the interest of the new course in advertising which the Department of University Extension is offering to the business men of Lexington. Doctor Tigert's lecture was the first one regarding the subject.

Mrs. M. E. McCarty, wife of Professor McCarty, Zoology, will return Monday from Tampa, Florida, where she has been on a visit to her parents, who are spending the winter there.

Another Cow Testing Association has been formed in Mason County, and E. M. Prewitt, Dairy Specialist, Professor Hooper's office, announces that Geo. Kirk, a graduate of "Illinois" will take charge of the work in March.

Chas. E. Ruby, class of '16, chemistry, has been heard from and is enrolled as Graduate Student in "Boston Tech" and doing work in Physical Chemistry. In the very near future he will have ready for publication two or three articles pertaining to his work.

G. Ivan Barnes, Supervisor of Agricultural Education, was in Frankfort Monday conferring with J. A. Link, Federal Agent for Vocational Work, who came down from Indianapolis, regarding that work.

Ben F. Scherffus, class of '07, Agriculture, and Mrs. Scherffus visited Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Brown last week. Doctor Brown is Drug Chemist at the Experiment Station. Mr. Scherffus has been in Ceylon as tobacco expert, employed by the British Government, but recently has bought a farm in Caloway County, Western Kentucky.

Edwin J. Elmer, class of '16, Chemistry, is connected with the Service Department of Chemical Products Division of the Hercules Powder Company, located at Parlin, New Jersey. He is engaged in work on Pyroxylin, which is to be a substitute for celluloid.

The new dorm is to be no longer a building in reality, but a thing of memory, only, for the building has been re-named. The name has been changed to Neville Hall and so called in honor of Professor J. H. Neville, who was connected with the University for many years. He taught Latin and Greek 1879-1909, and in addition to those duties he served as vice-president 1899-1909.

Has the unusual happened? Is the Millenium here? One fellow this week received a grade of 100 in a quiz—and it was in Vet Science, too.
